

Conversations on Activating Our Intelligence

Dorothy Stoltz | MD Tech Connect | December 12, 2024

Rate the following on a scale 1 = strongly disagree to 5 = strongly agree

Narrow mindedness and prejudice about what artificial intelligence is -- and what it is not -- will box us in.

AI should offer up emotions and moods when it describes an image, such as, "a swirling carpet evoking memories of times gone by."

We need to be cautious and pay attention to how unintelligent artificial intelligence can be, and when to avoid it.

AI is unable to draw on the universal mind for inspiration, wisdom, and discovery. It can only draw on what information has been fed into its system.

Plus. How is this concept helpful?

Minus. How is it harmful?

Interesting. What do you find interesting about the idea?

How can we tap sources such as curiosity, creativity, hope, discovery, enthusiasm, fortitude, and wisdom to bring clarity to AI in libraries?

Spend 5 – 10 minutes a day quietly focused on a universal/creative principle, such as humor, goodwill, harmony, perseverance, serenity, cheerfulness, and joy. (Morning and Evening)

Tap these types of life forces to help us:

- connect to our inner source of intelligence and learn to think with clarity,
- use creative energy effectively, and,
- augment our daily activities with a quiet enthusiasm.
